A FORTUNE AWAITS THIS WANDERER

Oklahoma City, Nov. 3.—Find Henry H. Loomis, heir to a Michigan fortune, communicate the address to Sheriff Harvey Garrison and get a reward.

It is presumed by Attorney Glenn C. Gillespie, of Leonard, Michigan, counsel to other heirs of the estate, that Loomis is a resident of Oklahoma—mayhaps, of Oklahoma City. The amount of the reward is not given, but because of the huge extent of the fortune, said to be in the neighborhood of $50,000, the compensation to the lucky discoverer will be of neat and attractive proportions.

In the letter to Sheriff Garrison, Attorney Gillespie states that Loomis is supposed to have removed from some point in Kansas to Oklahoma several years ago. Since leaving Kansas, relatives have been unable to locate him and he has consistently remained silent as to his whereabouts.

"I am writing to every sheriff in the state that I may find him," says the letter. "It seems too bad to have this property aggregating many thousands to be used for other purposes, and in behalf of Mr. Loomis, I will give a suitable reward to the person who will furnish his present address. The directories of Oklahoma would certainly be of assistance."

According to the advices, young Loomis was the proverbial black sheep of a proud, wealthy and influential family at Leonard, one of the prettier and more substantial little cities of that state.

He came disgusted with his own ability to set himself properly in the groove of a business man at home and wandered to the west.

Varying disappointments recounted in letters home met him in the further northwestern territory, and he strayed toward the east by the southern route. He finally landed in a Kansas town and letters became more infrequent.

Three years ago intelligence reached Leonard that Loomis had given up his prospects, whatever they were in Kansas, to follow the procession into Oklahoma. Nothing further has been heard from him and remains in secret identity although he must know that wealth awaits him at home.

NOTHING IN PENITENTIARY GRAFT CHARGES

McAlester, Ok., Nov. 3.—The investigation of the charges made by W. L. Bishop concerning the construction of the state penitentiary here were taken up this morning by the state board of affairs.

After hearing testimony submitted in the effort to substantiate the charges, the board indicated that no rebuttal testimony was necessary, but the contractors asked to be heard and a night session is being held. The board will visit the site of the new building in the morning and are expected to leave tomorrow. For the action of the board at the conclusion of the complainants' testimony to the effect that they did not need to hear more, and from statements made it is expected that they will find that there is nothing in any of the charges.

Cotton Climbing.

Cotton took another sudden rise today and is getting back toward the level of the early part of the season. Today it has been selling from 14c to 14 1/8 on the streets of Ada.

This season has been fine on every body. If, as now seems probable, 10,000 bales are marketed at Ada, it will mean about $750,000 or more of outside money put in circulation at Ada alone.

MRS. MCGURREN'S RECITAL

McGurren's recital at the city hall last evening was a gratifying success in every particular. A large audience was present and a neat sum was realized for the cause of prohibition. McGurren was ably supported in musical numbers by Mrs. Manville, who favored the audience with two vocal solos and Miss Mamie Matthews, who rendered some piano numbers.

Mrs. McGurren was at her best and her interpretations of standard authors was superb. In humor or pathos she was equally at home and she received numerous encores. A pleasing feature of the occasion was the presentation of bouquets in behalf of her pupils by Miss Irene Word. We consider the rendition of "Jim Fenton's Wedding," "Helen Thayer," and the letter scene from Macbeth as especially worthy of mention.

New Mexico Con-Con. Busy.

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 3.—The New Mexico Constitutional convention decided today that the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general, commissioner of public lands and superintendent of public instruction should be elected, and that their terms should be four years.

Except in the case of the commissioner of public lands and superintendent of public instruction, they shall not be eligible to re-election. The convention also decided that the governor, the secretary of state and the chief justice should constitute the state election board. The governor's salary will be $5,000 a year; the attorney general's $4,000 and other officers $3,000.

Good Crowds Hear McKeown and Whimbish.

T. D. McKeown and Robert Whimbish were in this morning from their campaigning in the east end of the county. At Allen Monday night they were greeted by a large and enthusiastic crowd of both sexes and with a brass band. They did some good work there. They also had a good meeting at Steedman Tuesday night. The meeting at Mooler was not so good on account of not being very well advertised. Last evening they had a good crowd to hear them at Stonewall and this evening together with Judge Barton they will bombard the voters at Maxwell.

JOE MCNEAL'S ADA SPEECH

THE STATE GOING TO THE DOGS UNLESS DEMOCRATS ARE BEATEN.

Joe McNeal began his speech picturing the early conditions existing in Oklahoma when there was no law. His opinion was that during the first year, when the people governed themselves, things moved along about as well as they have since. He referred to his early life on the plains and compared his hunting experiences when he used to run down buffaloes to his present task of running Haskell down.

Negro Question.

Evidently the negro question has made Uncle Joe a little sore, something like rubbing salt into an old wound. He spoke of the fact that until he came to Oklahoma he had never come in contact with many of them, and that as a rule a northern man hated the negroes worse than a southerner. He declared that he had always favored separate schools and that the democrats were simply lying when they said he believed in mixed schools. He also claimed that the first law ever enacted by the territorial legislature provided for separate schools, and that there was never a time when the republican party favored mixed schools or social equality.

Territorial and State Credit.

The speaker claimed that Haskell has been doing some tall lying about the amount of money turned over to the state by the territory, and that before statehood there was not a bank at Guthrie that would not take the warrants at par, and that now the warrants of the state are selling at a discount. He told some great tales of democratic extravagance, claiming that from the figures the revenues of the state should be around $6,000,000 per year, but that

KITCHEN $5.00
CABINETS
$1.00 DOWN, 50C A WEEK
SMITH

In the face of this the state debt is now $5,000,000 exclusive of the debt represented by the public building warrants.

Advices Negroes to Vote.

He declared himself opposed to any educational or property qualification for voting, except in the case of women, whom he thought should vote if they held property. He thought in that case they were entitled to vote, because taxation without representation is unjust.

Signing Railroad Bonds.

He defended himself for signing railroad bonds, saying that that was just like any other business proposition. He again brought up the charge that Cruce used to sign bonds for the Santa Fe, but offered no proof to that effect. Simply dismissed it by saying that one Cottingham had told him so.

Grandfather Chaise.

He said he had been told that Bill Murray denounced the grandfather clause as the most wicked and dangerous piece of legislation ever enacted. However, he evidently forgot that Murray has recently been here and expressed himself altogether differently. He said he had been told that the Chickasaws and Choctaws did not have an elective government until 1867 and that under the decision of the supreme court about 40,000 might be disfranchised. However, Gov. Byrd tells us that Joe was just thirty years behind the times, for they adopted it in 1834. Mrs. Byrd's father being the first elected governor of the Choctaws. McNeal advised that the negroes go ahead and demand to vote, offering their affidavits to the effect that they can read and write instead of submitting proof, and that if it can be shown that they had sworn falsely they could be sent to the penitentiary later.

Corporation Commission.

He claimed that the corporation commission has been a farce and that even when its rates were in effect the consumer did not know any difference in price, citing coal in particular. We people of Ada happen to know a little better than that, however. The first winter the writer spent in Ada not a ton of coal was to be had for less than $7.00 and often we paid as much as $9.00 for it. During the past two winters the price has been $5.50 and $6.00, but since the Hook injunction went into effect the price has again been advanced.

Prohibition.

McNeal says he is a prohibitionist, but will enforce any law the people make, if he is elected governor. He said for every man to study the proposed amendment and vote to suit himself. He gave it as his opinion, based on what he has heard during his campaign that the amendment will be defeated.

Cruce a Tool of Haskell.

He devoted some little time to Cruce, saying that he was a man with no backbone, and that for the sake of Haskell's support had surrendered every principle of manhood. He read the usual batch of charges Haskell doped against Cruce published during the first campaign, and declared that the board could not change its spots.

Hands Socialists a Bouquet.

He handed the socialists a bouquet, declaring that some of the brainiest men in the state were members of that party.

Victory in Sight.

In spite of everything the democrats can do, he figures on a big victory next Tuesday.

Fire at Roff.

A little after 4 o'clock on Tuesday it was discovered that the Star Livery barn, owned by W. M. McWhirt, was on fire. The alarm was given and the fire boys were on the scene in a few moments. Three lines of hose were laid to the fire and every effort made to save the barn. It was good fire fighting and proved that the Roff fire team was onto the job. The barn was filled with hay and corn and it was a hard job to control the fire. The boys finally succeeded in reducing it to a point that there was no danger to adjacent buildings, and part of the force remained on the job the greater part of the night watching the burning hay, which had been pulled out of the building. If there had not been a fire company it is probable that section of town would have burned as the wind was right to make a clean sweep.

The origin of the fire is unknown. —Roff Eagle.

Big Roll of Money in River.

Lawton, Ok., Nov. 3.—In 1906 a package containing $5,000 in currency was registered in the Lawton post-office to a firm in Chicago. The registration receipts came back from as far north as Kingfisher, Ok.

On that day a wreck occurred on the Rock Island railroad and an entire passenger train, with the exception of one Pullman coach, was dispatched into Washita river, due to the bridge at that point giving way to a flood torrent.

Today an official of the Postoffice Department visited Lawton for the purpose of checking up this registered package. The local office checked out all right and only one conclusion is left for Uncle Sam, and that is the amount is beneath the Rock Island bridge east of Kingfisher.

Married.

Yesterday evening at 7 o'clock Mr. H. K. Reed, of Alma, Ellis county, Texas, and Miss Fannie Davis were united in marriage, Rev. C. Stubblefield officiating. The bride was a favorite among her many friends here and all wish her happiness in her Texas home. The groom is to be congratulated on his luck in winning an Oklahoma girl, for they are the finest ever.

CHARGES AGAINST GORE FALL FLAT

In connection with McNeal's hearsay evidence that Senator Gore was involved with Jake Hamon in grafting the Comanche Indians out of a tract of land worth about $75,000 we submit the following letter from Senator Clapp, of Minnesota, chairman of the Indian affairs committee of the senate. That is quite different from what McNeal heard.

United States Senate Committee on Indian Affairs.

Witmer, Minn., July 26, 1910.—

Hon. T. P. Gore, Lawton, Okla. My Dear Senator: I understand there is some criticism concerning the Howell measure and that some claim that you were favorable to this measure.

Whatever criticism is involved in the measure must rest upon me as chairman of the committee. So far as you are concerned, you not only had nothing to do with the measure but when you learned of its passage in the senate you came to my office and made a very vigorous protest against it, claiming that the property was very valuable, worth I think you stated $75,000, and you insisted that while the measure ought not to pass at all, yet if it was to become a law it should go no further than simply leaving the discretion with the secretary to do as he might deem advisable.

It is certainly unjust to you to connect you in any manner whatever directly or remote with the passage of this measure in the senate, for you not only had nothing to do with it, but as above stated, when you learned of it you made a very vigorous protest against it. I do not believe that you should be the subject of any criticism in the matter and to that end I write you this letter, and you are authorized to publish the letter or use it in any manner that you may deem advisable.

With regards, I am cordially yours, (Signed) MOSES E. CLAPP.

BRYCE SCOTT HURT AT OIL MILL

This morning Bryce Scott was painfully hurt at the oil mill by being run over by a wagon. He was helping load a wagon and just as it started chanced to step on some apple cores and peelings that had been thrown on the ground. This caused him to fall and the wagon passed over both legs. Though painful, his injuries are not serious, as no bones were broken.

SAYS STORY ABOUT THE MAINE IS TRUE

Meriden, Conn., Nov. 3.—Former State Senator Francis Atwater of this city, who was publishing a newspaper at Havana, Cuba, at the time the Maine was blown up, commenting on the statement of Capt. Brady at Kansas City, to the effect that the ship had been blown up from the outside, and that the government knew the details of the happening years ago, today affirmed the story.

Mr. Atwater says he sent a cablegram to this country on Nov. 4, 1898, telling of Zalvado's destruction of the war ship and his accomplices. The information, according to Mr. Atwater, having been given him by a detective, who told him, also, that Zalvado had been poisoned and that one of his accomplices stood ready to confess the full details of the plot. At that time all of the information obtainable, said Mr. Atwater, was sent to the secretary of war, but while the letter was acknowledged, no further notice was taken of it so far as Mr. Atwater knew.

STAMP HERE

CONCERNING JAKE HAMON'S AP- POINTMENT.

In his speech yesterday Joe Mc-Neal sprang a new one on the motive for the appointment of Jake Hamon on the state election board.
He said he had HEARD that there was enough evidence against Senator Gore in some deals he and Hamon had had at Lawton to cause his conviction, and expulsion from the senate. Haskell is trying to discredit Gore so that he can get his place in the senate. Verily, Haskell is a fiend incarnate in the honorable Joe's opinion. Of course Joe had only HEARD about this. Very few things he seems to really know about.

If there is any trouble with the negroes over the grandfather clause Tuesday the republicans will have themselves to blame for it. The advice of McNeal and others to go ahead and demand to vote on their affidavits of eligibility instead of submitting actual proof is nothing more or less than a deliberate scheme to evade the law. It is designed to throw the burden of proof on the election officers instead of on the voters themselves, something clearly outside the law. They say that the negro who has perjured himself may be sent to the penitentiary.
The first prosecution would bring out an awful howl about persecution.
Thousands of prosecutions over the state would bring about a condition of chaos and one that would take years to end. The whole scheme is to try to get enough votes cast if possible to show the face of the returns that McNeal was elected and then follow up with a long contest over the governor's chair.

If Cruce ever signed a railroad bond why does not McNeal submit the proof instead of just saying that somebody told him he heard that Cruce had signed? Cruce offered to withdraw from the race if he would bring up the proof, but it is not forthcoming. The trouble is there is no proof, because he never signed one. The only charges of importance McNeal made were based altogether on hearsay. Under this was the one that Murray had been nominated for governor, that the Choctaws and Chickasaws never had any elective government until 1867, thereby knocking them all out of voting, and what Bill Murray said about the grandfather clause, to say nothing of the charge that Cruce signed bonds for the Santa Fe.

No doubt many of our readers are growing tired of so much political dope in this paper. We are too, for that matter, but it will all be over but the shouting next Tuesday. Just be patient with us until then and permit us to crow a few days after the returns come in and then we will do our level best to get up something new for our readers. One of these campaigns comes around only once in four years, you know.

Strange how a word may have different meanings. In Texas, for instance, a local optionist is recognized as being something for a prohibi-tionist, while in Oklahoma he is an active worker against prohibition.

Women's Clubs Elect Officers.

Muskogee, Ok., Nov. 3.—The Fed-

 TEMPERANCE AND ANTI-SA- LON TALK.  By W. C. T. U. *****

The St. Louis Brewers and their "hired men" in Oklahoma who "initiated" the whiskey amendment to the people's constitution did not expect for one minute to get saloons on the Old Indian Territory side of the state. An act of congress forbids that, and all decisions of the supreme court of U. S. upholds these acts of congress relating to Indian Affairs. No, no, the whiskey folks who initiated this amendment only hoped to use the citizens on the Indian Territory side of the state as a catch the other side of the state. We can have only bootleggers on this side, even if the amendment carries, so you people who say, "The boot-legger is the worst of all" must vote against the amendment to protect us against the "bootlegger."

If we carry this fight against the saloon by good, vigorous majority the voting will be all over on this subject for some time. Besides there will be a great impetus given to every good move for law enforcement and human betterment. Every community should look to the organization and maintenance of some kind of a juvenile protective league. Oh how much easier it is to form a boy than to reform a man! A single ounce of prevention is worth several pounds of cure. Save these boys and girls and the men and women will be saved. It is worth while to give time and attention to this problem of saving the young. The saloon must depend on the young, and so must we.
It is a fight for the young. Mrs.
Britton, superintendent of the juvenile protective league, Chicago, gives to the world these figures: There are 7,155 saloons in Chicago. These are maintained at a cost of $17,887,500.
This means that every man, woman and child in Chicago is paying the sum of $8.00 a year to support the saloons. This is for their maintenance and does not include their profit. And this is the way the saloons in Chicago are helping to pay the taxes.

No Socialist who is in earnest in his "profession" can vote for the liquor Amendment. It violates too many of the foundation principles of Socialism. No Socialist would begin to agree to give to only "one man in a thousand" a special right to all of a certain business. Socialists certainly believe in "equal rights to all and special privileges to none." Of course there are Socialists who are out for "revenue only" and all the liquor they can get who are for this amendment, but I speak of the honest, sincere socialist. For another reason the socialists must oppose the liquor traffic because it is controlled by a huge "trust," and is bottomed on huge profits. Take these two supports away from the liquor business, and the upholding hand of the general government, and it will soon take its place with all other disreputable outlaws. Tell your comrades, my socialist friend, that there is not a single argument in favor of the saloon which would be considered good in favor of socialism.

Nearly all the good which Governor Stubbs shows has come to his state of Kansas as a result of prohibition. has come in the last few years. The was so poorly enforced for so long that little of improvement was discernable. But the last few years have shown rapid progress. It seems to me, however, that Oklahoma has made as much progress in three years of prohibition as Kansas did in five times three. Give Oklahoma twenty-five years of prohibition, and we will overtake Kansas and pass her in the road, and set her an example of prosperity and happiness which she may be glad to follow for the next half century. There is probably not anywhere in the great west so much prosperity and happiness in a single state as in "Bleeding Kansas" but soon there will be, if this amendment is voted down by a manly majority. Let us have a chance here in Oklahoma to run a race with Kansas which will be interesting to all observers.

An intelligent looking man the other day made the argument that the law against whiskey selling is not enforced, and that prohibition does not prohibit. But said I, "Why license it even if it does not?" His only reply was that that "whiskey is different. It goes to the place as nothing else does." With one this may be true, but not with all. To one man sexual excesses may appear to another larceny. But shall we give to one man in each thousand only the special privilege of carrying all the business in these lines, and then repeal all laws against stealing and adultery? Gambling and robbery have their fascina-

A Cream of Tartar Powder Made From Grapes NO ALUM

tions for some men. But because of this shall we license one special man in a thousand to do all the business which he may be able to do "for revenue only" in these lines?

The lottery and the horse race "go to the spot" with some men, as nothing else does, but where are the men who will say that one man shall by paying a license be allowed to do all the business he can in these lines. Oh, pshaw! my neighbor, shut up that old gag. You do not believe a word of it, and if you only knew it your neighbors are about as "smart" about your assertions as you are. They do not believe it either.

Moving Picture Tricks.

The most popular of the trick pictures displayed at the moving picture shows is that where inanimate objects act with an intelligence which many a human being might envy.

In one, a lazy man, while dressing, falls asleep in his chair. The bewildered audience then behold his clothes detach themselves from their hooks, move across the floor and fit themselves on to their owner; his hair gradually gets smoother and smoother as if attended by an invisible brush, till finally it is beautifully parted; and his collar fastens around his neck, and his tie creeps up and arranges itself in a neat knot; his undone boots lace themselves up, the laces creeping in and out of the eyelet holes and fastening at the top.

To begin with, the boots were photographed unlaced. Then came a stop to enable the photographer to put the laces through the first eyelet-hole. He snapshotted this, stopped again to put the laces through another hole, and so on until the boots were finally laced up. Each eyelet-hole represented a stop and a fresh photograph; but when the picture was completed the pauses were cut out and each snapshot joined up.

Suppose, again, it is desired to show a Golliwog having a walk.
Photograph No. 1 shows the doll in position. Then a stop while the photographer lifts one of the figure's feet for photograph No. 2. The next photograph will show the foot on the ground again and its fellow member raised, and thus several snapshots are necessary to record a single step. Multiply these by some hundreds and join them all together to run in quick succession, and—presto! you have Mr. Golliwog not only walking, but jumping, dancing, riding on an equally live Teddy bear, and generally behaving in the way one would expect such an eccentric-locking gentleman to behave.

Coming within the province of "trick effects" are the numerous pictures where, for a brief instant, a dummy has to take the place of a living man.

Take the case of the representation of a scaffold accident, for example.
The movements of the living actor are photographed right down to the actual moment when he poses for the fall. Then comes a stop while a dummy, dressed in similar clothes, is arranged in his place. The fall of this with the scaffold is snapshotted, but immediately it reaches the ground comes another stop. The actor is then

Fire in Cotton.

At three o'clock Sunday morning the fire alarm was given calling out the citizenship of the town. The fire was readily located in the cotton yard at the head of Broad street, where something like 2000 bales were stored, and by the time the fire fighters arrived the flames were spreading at a rapid rate. A strong wind was blowing which made the flames spread faster and hard to control. But no people know better how to battle with the flames than those of Konawa, and with plenty of water near by they were soon under control and in a short time the burning cotton was removed from the yard, with a partial loss of several bales. It is not known how the fire originated, but had it not been that the city officials had been called below town to quell a disturbance among some Indians, and discovered the flames as they were returning with their prisoners, the loss would have been heavy, in fact no one knows what it would have reached.—Konawa Chief-Leader.

Durant Receives Over 7,000 Bales.

Business on the Durant cotton market evidenced increased activity yesterday and today. Yesterday the receipts amounted to 107 bales, the heaviest for several days. A larger amount of cotton was marketed today. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the receipts of the season totaled 6,976 bales, and at that hour 28 bales were in the waiting line, making the receipts of the season more than 7,000 bales. The price today was a trifle lower than yesterday, although a few bales brought $14.05. Prices paid covered a wide range, some of the cotton bringing less than thirteen cents. The plow priced cotton was of inferior grade.—Durant Democrat.

Miss Kate Barnard Passes Through.

This morning Miss Kate Barnard was a passenger on the Katy for Lehigh and Atoka where she will address the voters. Last evening she addressed a house at Shawnee filled to overflowing, and the evening before election will be one of the speakers at the big rally at Oklahoma City. She has done very fine work all through the present campaign, as good as has been done by any one. Miss Barnard regretted that she could not stop over at Ada as she has many warm friends here, but desired us to express her kindest regards for them all. Mrs. Wm. Felter returned to Roff yesterday afternoon after visiting W. M. Cummings and family a few days.

Roads Must Stop Seizing Coal.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 3.—To break up the practice of the railroads arbitrarily confiscating coal consigned to other shippers, the corporation commission today issued thirty-eight citations of contempt against the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf and other lines carrying coal out of Dewar, on complaint of the McDonald Coal Co. The Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf was fined $100 on one count yesterday. The commission holds that the failure to deliver violates the order requiring coal moved 50 miles a day and promptly delivered. Since the coal strike, the roads that got behind on coal have been taking much coal sent out to other shippers under the license given them to take coal for immediate necessity.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A NEGRO IS DEFINED BY A COURT

Washington, Nov. 3.—The question what constitutes a "negro," under the law, was argued before the court of appeals for the District of Columbia today in the case of Isabel Wall, the child of Stephen Wall, who was recently excluded as a negro from the white schools here. Isabel has but little negro blood. The school board ruled, 8 to 5 that one-sixteenth of African blood made a negro from the school standpoint. Justice Wright in the lower court, sustained the school board.

A Novelty in Signs.

Gwin & Mays Co. have placed in their show window a unique sort of an advertisement of their fountain pens. It consists of a well dressed figure of a young man with a pen in his hands, and moved by clock work he turns half way around and by pointing calls attention of the passerby to the revolving card carrier on which are placed a number of cards. In one hand he holds one of the fountain pens in question.

HOLDENVILLE MEETS DEFEAT

The football game between the E. C. N. and Holdenville began shortly after two o'clock p. m. with Ada defending the south goal, Holdenville taking the kick off. Within three minutes from the time the ball started Ada had made a touch down and kicked goal, and within less than the same period of time had made the second touch down.

A good crowd was present and much enthusiasm was in evidence. The teams were fairly well matched in size, but the playing seemed to be on the side of the home boys. The first team played the visitors fifteen minutes making a score of twenty-seven to Holdenville's nothing. The E. C. N. second team then took the field against Holdenville and at this writing had run the score 40 to 0. That is victory for Ada, and going some.

With Prof. J. Frank Lilly, umpire and Prof. Cox as referee, the line ups were as follows:

E. C. N.—Lee McKinney, right end; Frank Sturdevant, right guard; Maude Donaghey, right tackle; Vernon Rollow, center; James Walby, left guard; Frank McCain, left end; William Buttram, quarter back; Sam Donaghey, left half back; Talmage Lowman, full back; Grady Matthews, right half back and captain; Brents McMillan, Currie, Roddie, substitutes.

LATER—4 p. m.—The second team walloped the visitors to a finish and the visitors surrendered the game in the second quarter. Score 47 to 5.

Attorney General Wickersham brought the following tale back from the Northwest and told it at the white house. A man there was who was in mortal fear of his wife, especially when he indulged in spirits.

BUILDING A STATE

WHAT WAS DONE, WHY, AND WHAT IT COST.

CHAPTER VII.

Political Machine—Thirty-four Hundred Salaried Officers Appointed by the Governor—Expense of Governor's Office, Etc.

Reader, if a candidate for public office will deliberately try to deceive you to get your vote do you believe he would be honest in serving you if elected?

We consider that the offices belong to the people, not to the candidates, and unless the truth candidly told to the people will secure their votes no honest man would desire the office.

In his printed literature and public speeches Joe W. McNeal says that I am a natural born machine politician and that all my plans in official work are to build up a strong political machine to dictate the government of the state.

Let us see—Senator LaFollette has said that the initiative and referendum and mandatory primary will destroy any possibility of political machine control. Inasmuch as I assisted to write both the initiative and referendum and mandatory primary provisions in our state constitution I must have been a fool for doing so if I favored machine politics, and among all the other slanderous things that have been said of me by the McNeal corporation press bureau I do not remember that they ever called me a fool or a coward.

To strengthen his senseless assertion Joe McNeal says Governor Haskell has appointed an army of thirty-four hundred salaried officers. He sometimes quotes it by saying that Governor Haskell has appointed three per cent of all the Democratic voters of the State to salaried offices upon the State pay roll.

Reader, if Mr. McNeal desired to know the truth as to the number of salaried officers appointive by the Governor he could easily and in a few minutes turn to the Constitution and laws of our state and find the exact number. If he had investigated then he knew his statement was a ridiculous falsehood. On the other hand if he made the statement without investigation he showed himself to be a reckless falsifier unworthy of your trust or confidence. He intended to impress upon you by his statement that the Governor has the appointment of thirty-four hundred salaried officers the fact that we had built up a reckless and extravagant government, for in addition to such a large number appointive by the Governor would be added all the other officers throughout the state, counties and precincts elected by the people or appointed or employed by other officers or boards, state or local.

But what is the truth? Here is the entire list of regular officers appointive by the Governor, giving the name of the present incumbent and the office that he fills.

J. P. Connors, Chairman Board of Agriculture.

J. C. Mahr, Commissioner of Health.

R. W. Dick, Warden Penitentiary.

Clyde Reed, Warden Reformatory.

E. B. Cockrell, Bank Commissioner.

J. A. Smith, Grain Inspector.

William Murdock, Superintendent State Agency.

J. S. Askew, Game Warden.

Seth K. Cordon, T. J. Leahy, Jake L. Hamon, Election Board; Secretary Board.

Vacant now, State Printer.

Frank M. Canton, Adjutant General.

Fred S. Caldwell, Enforcement Attorney.

R. J. Allen, J. J. Quarles, J. T. Dickerson, Board of Public Affairs.

J. P. Connor's office is elective at the next general election, the Governor simply making the first appointment.

There is also S. O. Dawes, the State Librarian. There was some doubt in the beginning as to whether the Governor or the Supreme Court should appoint the State Librarian, therefore the Governor joined in the appointment. It has since been ascertained that the Supreme Court makes that appointment.

There is a temporary Board of three Capitol Commissioners which serves only for a limited length of time and then passes out of existence, but the state does not pay that board a single penny.

Also the three Criminal Court of Appeals Judges and the nine Superior Court Judges and the vacancies on the District Court bench were filled by the Governor until their successors are elected.

The above constitutes every salaried officer appointive by the Governor.

There are then various boards of regents and trustees of the higher educational institutions and the charitable institutions, Text Book Commission, Mining, Medical, and other state boards which are honorary positions, draw no salary, some of them only get pay for the days they attend Board meetings amounting only to a few dollars in the course of a year. There are not to exceed eighty-five such honorary Board memberships.

Now, reader, count the list. Instead of being thirty-four hundred salaried officers appointive by the Governor you find there are sixteen permanent appointments to salaried offices and the judgeships mentioned and the honorary positions, so that when Joe McNeal told you there were thirty-four hundred it is not possible that he believed his own statement. He knew the truth to be that he was outrageous by deceiving every man in the state who believed his statement. If a man will deceive the people to get the office what would he do while holding the office?

Iowa, Kansas and Oklahoma.

In a printed circular distributed by Joe McNeal he compares certain items of state expense in Oklahoma with similar departments of government in the states of Iowa and Kansas, claiming that Oklahoma is higher than Kansas or Iowa in these departments and offers this as conclusive evidence that the whole government of Oklahoma is more expensive than the whole government of Kansas or Iowa.

In the first place comparison of the cost of state government by items is unfair because the same office may not cover the same entire line of work in different states, and for the further reason that the figures published by Joe McNeal are not true. The entire circular, except Joe's photograph, is a juggling of figures and a deliberate falsehood. We will take space to point out the McNeal style of juggling figures.

State Auditor.

The Auditor's office in Oklahoma, all clerical help, stationery, records and supplies included, is nineteen thousand, and two hundred dollars. We have the details of the Kansas State Auditor's office at hand from their official records which Joe McNeal says is thirteen thousand, five hundred dollars a year in Kansas. The facts are that in Oklahoma the Auditor's office handles all of the financial records and tax work of all kinds combined under the expense of the State Auditor's office, whereas in Kansas the State Auditor's office performs only a part of that work, and a separate Board, the expense of which in Kansas is twenty-two thousand dollars a year, performs the other division, so that the total financial record and tax work in Kansas costs thirty-five thousand, five hundred dollars a year, while in Oklahoma, combined in one office, it costs nineteen thousand, two hundred dollars a year. Joe McNeal knew these facts when he printed that circular and deliberately attempted to deceive the people by concealing the truth.

Governor's Office.

In Oklahoma McNeal's circular says it costs fifty-seven thousand, three hundred dollars a year to run the Governor's office; in Kansas twenty-two thousand, seven hundred dollars; in Iowa fourteen thousand, two hundred sixty-eight dollars. McNeal's Kansas figures are correct. McNeal's Iowa figures are false, the true amount being fifteen thousand, four hundred thirty-four dollars. While in Oklahoma the total amount appropriated for running the Governor's office, as shown on page twenty-six of the Session Laws of the Legislature for the year nineteen hundred nine, was fifteen thousand, three hundred dollars a year for the regular salaries and expenses and for extra service, including all such things as the numerous county seat and county boundary elections and that character of service, possibly three thousand dollars additional, but had Joe McNeal consulted the State Auditor's warrant records he would have found that for all purposes for the year just ended the thirtieth day of last June the total expense of the Governor's office, including the extra help, was under fifteen thousand, three hundred dollars for the year. There was no excuse for Joe McNeal making a false statement that the Governor's office in Oklahoma costs fifty-seven thousand, three hundred dollars a year, and if the reader will look further on page twenty-six of the Session Laws he will find that Joe McNeal included every class of public expenditure that requires the approval of the Governor before the bill can be paid but none of which is for the expense of the Governor's office. For an example, there is ten thousand dollars appropriated to defray the expense of appraising, advertising and selling the public building land with which the Governor has nothing to do except approve the bills before they can be paid. Also fifteen thousand dollars which may be used to aid in the various counties in the enforcement of the prohibition law, having nothing to do with running the Governor's office except that the Governor must approve the bills before they can be paid. Another item of five thousand dollars, a lump sum appropriated, out of which rewards of fifty dollars each may be paid for causing the capture and conviction of horse thieves, with which the Governor's office has nothing to do except to O. K. the certificate that the District Judge who tried the case has given to the person that the Judge finds was entitled to the reward for causing the capture and conviction of the horse thief. This appropriation was made at the request of the Anti-Horse Thief Association of the state. Joe McNeal knows that this has nothing to do with running the Governor's office. He also knew that if he charged similar appropriations in Kansas to the cost of running the office of the Governor of Kansas that it would have made the total in Kansas of one hundred eighty-eight thousand dollars for the year, and in Iowa the same appropriations included would have made the office of the Governor of Iowa cost two hundred seventeen thousand dollars a year. That those figures published by Joe McNeal in his circular were a deliberate attempt to deceive the voters of Oklahoma will not be doubted by any honest man, but turn to page twenty-six of the Session Laws of the year nineteen hundred nine, and the appropriations for the year nineteen hundred ten, and it will be plainly seen that Mr. McNeal wants to compare the expense of state government in Oklahoma, Kansas and Iowa there is only one honest way to do it, that is show the entire cost of state government in each state. Had he done so he would have found that to run the state government in Oklahoma for three full years cost an average of two million, forty-nine thousand and eight hundred dollars per year. In Kansas three million, six hundred sixty-nine thousand, five hundred thirty-seven dollars and twenty-eight cents per year; in Iowa, three million, six hundred thirty-five thousand, eight hundred six dollars per year.

Respectfully submitted,

C. M. HASKELL,

Governor.
